

Marianne Loftus, DNP, APRN-CNP

I began my nursing career in 2006 as a nursing assistant in long-term care. It was then that I developed my passion for caring for older adults and desire to be a nurse practitioner. I have a personal belief that as a nurse practitioner I don't only care for the patient, but also care for their family. I want to be able to accompany the patient and their family throughout every step of their health. I view and treat all patients and family as if they were my own. It is such an honor to be able to care for our older adults.

- Board Certifications / Re-certifications: Adult Gerontology Primary Care NP, American Nurses Credentialing Center
- Professional Interests: Dementia care, Wound care, Polypharmacy
- Education: Bachelor of Science in Nursing, The College of Saint Scholastica, Duluth, MN, Doctorate of Nursing Practice, The College of Saint Scholastica, Duluth, MN

Steven Lawler, MD

I love being a Family Practitioner because I believe that the best care comes from being able to put a person's medical issues in the context of the rest of their life. I spent the first dozen years of my practice providing full-spectrum primary care in a clinic setting, and time and again, my experiences there reinforced the importance of looking at the big picture. For the last few years, I've focused on taking care of seniors in long-term care settings, and I've continued to apply that approach. I try to get to know each of my patients - not only their medical history, but also their hobbies, their career, their family life, their goals and hopes. Each patient is unique and getting to know the whole person helps me provide the best care possible.

- Board Certifications / Re-certifications: Diplomate, American Board of Family Practice
- Professional Interests: Medical Director, Northfield Care Center
- Education: Family Medicine Residency, United Family Medicine, St. Paul, MN, Doctor of Medicine, University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City, IA