Friendship MANOR

Amy Kammerer, APRN, CNP

My passion for working with the elderly population dates back to childhood, when I'd volunteer with my grandmother at the local long-term care center to help residents play BINGO. I loved listening to residents' stories and earning a smile or laugh from them. As a certified nurse practitioner, I aim to blend nursing and medical services to provide care for individuals and families. My objective is to make connections with my patients and families; to learn their goals and values. So that together, we can create a comprehensive, patient-centered care plan that focuses on quality of life and meets patients where they are at in their life journey.
