

Genevive

Michelle Killam, APRN, CNP

I have an extensive history working with the geriatric population. What began in high school as a volunteer opportunity at an assisted living, quickly turned into a lifelong career in healthcare. I enjoy getting to know my patients by finding out their history, what makes them happy, and what they are proud of. My goal is to work collaboratively with the patient and their loved ones to develop a plan of care centered on the individual.

If primary care doctors are the “people doctors,” then seniors are by far my favorite people. Getting to know my patients and their families is something I value highly. Guiding them through the decisions and complexities that arise in their health care is also highly rewarding. It is at GENEVIVE, helping the frailest of these patients manage chronic disease, acute illness and end-of-life transitions, where I believe a physician can have the greatest impact in primary care.
