Genevive

Momodou Ceesay, APRN, CNP

I immigrated to the United States in 1992 from a small country in West Africa called Gambia. I went straight into nursing caring for the elderly as a nursing assistant in long term care settings across the country. I never looked back. Went back to school for my advance degree in geriatrics in order to continue to deliver the best evidence based practice for my elderly clients.

I'm a lifelong learner when it comes to improving the care for the elderly population. Working in health care this long also provided me great experience on how unique we are as individuals. I'm very passionate in improving the quality of life for all those who entrust me with their care.

Bill Hamilton, MD

After 31 years in a robust full-service family practice in Saint Paul, I am proud to have transitioned into my current role as a Geriatric Physician. I find that I learn continually from my patients and their families and hopefully educate them return. I try to incorporate compassion, competence, and communication in my daily work. I find it a true privilege to attend to this special group of patients.
